Foreword

What is progress, and how is it measured?
Progress has been defined as: "the moving forward or the growth of a group of people or things."
It has been said of Temple City High School that the students have great unity and spirit. This has been evidenced many times by the teams and the rooters.
The maturity of the students is the way many people measure the growth of a school. This maturity has been exemplified by the co-operaton of the student body working under crowded conditions and other trials.
Without improved student interest such co-operation couldn't have been possible.

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

TO THE RAM STUDENT BODY:

As we mark the end of our first year, we look back with satisfaction in the knowledge that Temple City High School has successfully established itself with the high schools of Southern California.

Our standards have been set high and you, the citizens of this new high school, have met the challenge in a manner which has made our community proud.

School spirit, the mark of a good school, has been wonderful. It is reflected in the success attained scholastically, athletically, and socially. Yours is the opportunity to build tradition. I am confident that you will make Temple Ciy High School the Best.

Juniors '56

During the past year the Junior Class has conducted many entertaining and fund raising projects. In November, the Second Period Civics Class put on a Saints and Sinners Dance. The Sixth Period Civics Class sponsored a Thanksgiving Program. Canned goods were used for admission to the program, and these were sent to needy families. At the faatboll games, refreshments were sold by the Fourth Period Civics Class. The funds raised from this project went to the Band Uniforms Drive Project. The Third and Fifth Period Classes combined to sell refreshments at the Band Uniform Ball on December 3, 1954. In March of 1955 the Third and Fourth Period Classes went on an excursion to the Hall of Justice and witnessed a trial case.

Dear Penny,

This year Temple City High has become a school of which we can all be proud. Much progress has been made through the efforts of an intelested faculty and a spirited student body. The seniors will leave before we move to the new plant, and Temple will continue to grow through the work of students in your class. Concentrate on your school homework, be interested, try to help the other students and become even more of an asset to your school.

Good luck!

Sincerely,
Delana Taylor Evans

Penny:

It has been nice knowing you all these years. I hope you like my brother as a paper boy as much as you did "you know who" I hope you and Merill will live happily ever after. Good luck in the coming years with your school work and the boys. Have lots of fun this summer!

Good Luck always
